

Liability Disclaimer

Amega Star LLC provides training and a platform for responsible raising and placement of puppies. However, we do not guarantee or make any representations regarding the health, temperament, trainability, or any other future outcomes of any puppy obtained through our trusted breeders.

Each puppy is raised according to our outlined practices, which focus on socialization, care, and ethical breeding support. However, factors such as genetics, environment, training, and individual care significantly influence a puppy's development. Any health concerns, temperament issues, or training challenges remain the sole responsibility of the puppy's new owner.

By purchasing or obtaining a puppy certified through Amega Star LLC, you acknowledge and agree that Amega Star LLC is not liable for any unfavorable outcomes related to the puppy's health, behavior, or trainability. Any disputes or concerns regarding these matters should be addressed directly with the breeder.

For questions regarding a specific puppy, please contact the breeder directly.